

Special Issue of the Journal of Education

Knowledge-building in educational practices

Guest Editorial Team: Mlamuli Hlatshwayo, Lee Rusznyak, Aslam Fataar and Margaret Blackie

The Special Interest Group in 'Knowledge-building in educational practices' is producing a Special Issue on the theme: Knowledge-building in educational practices. The Guest Editorial Team invites conceptual and/or empirical papers for the Special Issue that focus on the following broad themes:

- Knowledge-building and the development of expertise in educational practices.
- Knowledge-building in educational practices as a means towards achieving greater levels of social participation and social/ educational justice

The Special Issue is scheduled for publication in March 2021.

Deadlines:

- Call for Special Issue – November 2019
- Submission of full papers – 30 June 2020
- Review process: 1 July to 30 September 2020.
- Revisions to articles completed by 30 November 2020
- Final reviewers comments by 20 January 2021
- 30 January – 30 March 2021– copy-editing, proofreading and typesetting

Please see: <http://joe.ukzn.ac.za/notes.aspx> for submission guidelines and article processing charges. Use Chrome as your browser, not Explorer. You need to register as an author on the site. When you submit your article please make it clear in the 'Notes to the editor' that it is for the SIG Special issue on Knowledge-building.

Please address all editorial queries for this Special Issue to Dr Mlamuli Hlatshwayo (HlatshwayoM@ukzn.ac.za) or Prof Lee Rusznyak (Lee.Rusznyak@wits.ac.za). All administrative queries should be sent to Rosemarie Milburn (rose@saera.co.za) Website queries should be sent to Vicent Mbonye (vicentmbonye@gmail.com)

The Journal of Education is accredited by DHET and indexed by SciELO.

It is an open access, peer reviewed journal that makes scholarly articles available under the Creative Commons Attribution-Non Commercial-No Derivatives 4.0 International License. Copyright resides with the author.